B. G. Salzgeber Kills His Wife and Suicides

This city was startled with the news received here last Thursday night, stating that Baird G. Salzgeber, of Indianapolis, had killed his wife and then committed suicide. The rash act is supposed to have been committed about 4:30 o'clock that morning, but it was not until 8:30 in the evening that the bodies were discovered. Mrs. Salzgeber before her marriage twenty-two years ago was Miss Mayme Tipton, oldest daughter of Mrs. Anna Tipton, of this city. She was widely known and greatly beloved throughout this entire section and her untimely death has caused the entire community to mourn with her loved ones. Financial trouble is said to have been the cause of Mr. Salzgeber's act.

Mrs. Salzgeber had just returned from their summer home in Michigan and it is not thought he had intended to kill his wife, although he had evidently made plans to destroy himself, as a note was left to a business associate telling that it was the only way out of his financial difficulties as he carried $78,000 life insurance and he directed how this should be applied to pay his indebtedness.

The Indianapolis story of the tragedy states that at an early hour in the morning other residents of the apartment heard the shots, but paid no attention to them, but when Mr. Salzgeber failed to show up at his office during the entire day a search was instituted and the two bodies found in bed with a shot from a pistol in the head of each.

Mrs. Salzgeber's daughter, Frances, aged 17, who had been with her in Michigan, did not return home with her mother, but arrived in Indianapolis a few hours after she learned of the death of her father and mother.

Besides her mother and daughter, Mrs. Salzgeber is survived by three sisters, Misses Fannie and Nell Tipton and Mrs. W. S. Carrington, and one brother, Will R., all of this city.

The double funeral was held at Lebanon, Indiana, Monday and was attended by Miss Nell Tipton, W. R. Tipton and Mrs. John Spear, the other children being unable to attend on account of the condition of Mrs. Tipton, who has been in a serious condition for some time.

Mr. Salzgeber lived in this city for a short time, where he was connected in business with I. F. Tabb. Leaving here about 20 years ago, he went to Indianapolis where he engaged in the printing and lithographing business and had made a huge success up until the time he received

75,000 Coal Miners To Return To Work

The soft coal strikers as virtually broken last night, but prospects were that the actual signing of an agreement between the United Mine Workers and operators, controlling an annual output of 60,000,000 tons, would be delayed until today. The signing of the contract will actually end the strike in part.

All details of the agreement were accepted in principle by both miners and operators and the actual draft of the contract was left to a subcommittee which continued its work into the night. The actual signing of the contract, President John L. Lewis, of the miners, said, is expected to follow a meeting today of the union's policy committee.

WECKESSER SELLS BUS LINE

Fred Weckesser, of Paris, formerly a merchant of Mt. Sterling, and owner of several bus lines plying between Paris, Mt. Sterling and Owensville, has disposed of his bus interests and with Mrs. Weckesser will move to Lexington, where he will take the position as steward at the Phoenix hotel with Mrs. Weckesser as assistant.

financial reverses a short time ago.

Mrs. Salzgeber was one of the most beloved women ever reared in Montgomery county. She was cultured and refined and made friends rapidly. She was devoted to her home and family and at all times led a life worthy of emulation. Among her friends here at her old home she was exceedingly popular, and her tragic end has caused many a heart-ache, but the memory of her lovely character will ever linger, although life be extinct.

1,200 Trainmen Quit At Corbin

Twelve hundred trainmen, members of the Big Four brotherhood, employed on the Cumberland division of the Louisville and Nashville railroad, left their trains at 10 o'clock Monday morning.

This ties up the great Harlan and Bell county coal districts.

The walkout was orderly.

The walkout was voted because the trainmen claimed armed guards at the Louisville and Nashville shops at Corbin were endangering their lives.

They also claimed that they were being required to operate defective equipment in violation of the law and thus also endangering their lives.

Trainmen who walked out yesterday morning declared that their action was not a strike. They said they simply had refused to work until conditions were made safe.

E. F. Ford, chairman of the Corbin local of the Brotherhood of Trainmen, said that the men had been asked to operate bad equipment and that the guards at the Corbin shops had been abusive. He said that instances of guards trying to intimidate the union men, drawing guns on men operating engines and trains and cursing them had been reported to the union headquarters.

"The men simply have quit work until conditions are made safe for them to work," he said. "There is no strike at all. The men cannot be expected to work when their lives are instantly endangered by armed guards threatening them and defective equipment."

The strike of 1,200 trainmen on the Cumberland division of the L. & N. means a cutting off from the outside world of virtually 100,000 people in southeastern Kentucky. Of these approximately 70,000 are in the great coal fields of Harlan and Bell counties with a capacity output of approximately 1,000 carloads of coal a day.

The Cumberland Valley division is the division that Henry Ford, through his Detroit, Toledo and Ironton railroad recently sought to have the L. & N. agree to allow him to aid in operating. It is this division that serves the great United States Coal and Coke Company operating at Lynch, where the largest coal tippie in the world is located; the Banner Fork mines owned by Ford and approximately 175 other mines both large and small.

The cities and towns cut off entirely from train service with the outside world include Middlesboro, Pineville, Harlan, Lynch, Barbourville and Manchester.

Approximately forty state guards, under command of Major James K. Dillon, are in camp at London, the troop's home, within easy reach of Corbin and the coal fields. The soldiers were scheduled to go to Camp Henry Knox, near Louisville, but the plans were changed. The soldiers have been on duty in Bell and Whiteley counties.

BREAD GIVEN AWAY

The Winchester Bakery, to introduce their product in Mt. Sterling, yesterday brought over by truck 1,000 loaves fresh from their ovens for free distribution in the city. Their old fashioned salt-rising bread, "like mother used to make," and their Carnation milk loaf are gaining wide popularity throughout this section and may be purchased fresh every day from the grocers here. The bread is baked at 11 o'clock in the morning and delivered in the afternoon in time for supper.

"PETE" BRADSHAW HERE

Everett Bradshaw, of Philadelphia, better known here as "Pete," was in Mt. Sterling for a few days last week. He was accompanied by Mrs. Bradshaw and their two fine sons, making the trip in their car. Pete Bradshaw left here twenty-five years ago and this is his first visit to his old home town. His friends will be glad to know that he has made good. He is a prosperous druggist and is a director in the Rexall United Drug Co.

Death Claims Mrs. Nannie R. Judy

Mrs. Nannie R. Judy died Sunday afternoon, August 13, at her home on Sycamore street as the result of a fractured hip which she received a few days ago from a fall in her room.

Funeral services were conducted this morning at 10 o'clock at the home by her pastor, Rev. Olus Hamilton, of the Baptist church, and burial was in Macphelah cemetery.

Mrs. Judy is survived by two sons, John A. and Robinson T. Judy; three grandchildren, J. S. Judy, Winchester; Mrs. B. W. Hunter, of this city, and Bascom Judy, of this city; four sisters, Mrs. Margaret Bruton and Mrs. J. W. Chenault, of this city; Mrs. Mary R. Saunders, of Sharpshurg; Mrs. J. W. Hedlin and Mrs. J. H. Power, of Flemingsburg; two brothers, R. C. Robinson, of this city, and J. M. Robinson, of New Decatur, Alabama.

For many years and to the time of her death, Mrs. Judy was a faithful, consistent member of the Baptist church, and as she was in church relations so she was in her home, her neighborhood, with kindred and friends. Hers was a life worthy of praise, an example it would be well to follow, and should we attempt a word-painting eulogy our effort would be to fail. It is sufficient to say a good woman, one of innumerable and helpful deeds, has fallen and the chair in church and home made vacant by her going is one that cannot be filled. Mrs. Judy was approaching 89 years of age when death came.

Tributes at this time are only of worth as milestones and an index pointing the way of life.

"Gather ye rosebuds while ye may.

Old time is still a-flying.

And this same flower that smiles today

Tomorrow will be dying.

"The leaves of the oak and the willow shall fade.

Be scattered around, and together be laid.

And the old and the young, and the low and the high

Shall moulder to dust and together shall die."

Thus it shall ever be. The modest, amiable, loving friend, wife, mother, has passed on to be with Him who had redeemed her by His own precious blood.

Killing In Powell Saturday Night

Emmett Gilbert, 28 years old, of the Cat creek section of Powell county, near Stanton, died at the Clark County Hospital at Winchester at 8:45 o'clock Sunday night from pistol wounds said to have been inflicted Saturday night by Tefer Daniels, 25 years old.

According to the story told by Gilbert, Daniels, who is the son of Dave Daniels, police court judge of Clay City, and former county judge of Powell county, and another man named Lacy came to his home on Cat creek Saturday afternoon. The men had been drinking, Gilbert said, and Daniels drew his pistol and threatened to shoot him. Some men standing nearby seized Daniels and Gilbert ran. Daniels and his companion then left the place.

That night, however, the men returned to Gilbert's home, where he operated a barber shop, and Daniels got a shave and hair cut. Gilbert said he thought "Daniels had gotten over his mad spell" and invited the men to look at a buggy he had purchased recently. As the men went to the buggy shed Daniels told Gilbert that he was going to kill him and again drew his pistol, it is alleged. Gilbert said he pleaded for his life and then told Lacy to hold Daniels while he ran. Daniels fired one shot, it is said, the bullet passing entirely through Gilbert's body.

Several hours later Daniels went to a store at Rosslyn and said he had killed Gilbert, it is said. Daniels also showed several cuts in his coat which he said had been made by Gilbert. After Gilbert was picked up it was found that the only weapon he had was a small pocket knife in his pocket, and which was not open. Authorities claim that Daniels cut his clothing after he shot Gilbert.

While Daniels was telling his story to the Rosslyn merchant some men entered the store, and Daniels, thinking they had come to arrest him, drew his revolver and threatened to shoot if they advanced on him. Then he backed out of the store and still is at large.

Some weeks ago Daniels is said to have shot at his brother, Oscar. The bullet went wild, however, and killed a cow. About a month ago Daniels sent word to the officials of Clark county and Winchester that he intended to sell all the moonshine in Winchester that he wanted to.

Gilbert is survived by a widow and six small children.

MARRY HERE SATURDAY

Arthur Chandler, aged 19, farmer, of this city, son of W. G. Chandler, of Bath county, and Miss Martha Orme, aged 18, daughter of Scott Orme, this county, were united in marriage Saturday evening at 6 o'clock. The ceremony was performed by Rev. B. W. Trimble at his residence on High street. Both of the contracting parties are widely known and have many friends who will be interested in the above announcement.

Trial of Hardman Set For Tomorrow

The examining trial of Scobes Hardman, 22 years old, son of a wealthy Bourbon county farmer, under arrest on a warrant charging murder in connection with the slaying of Leon Renaker, Winchester business man, July 25, will be held at Winchester Wednesday morning at 10 o'clock. The date for the trial was set at a conference with County Attorney H. H. Moore and Judge Smith Hays, one of Hardman's attorneys.

The defense requested that the preliminary trial be held today, but the later date was set at the suggestion of the commonwealth to allow more time to summon witnesses and prepare for the hearing.

Judge R. S. Scobee announced that he will vacate the bench at the preliminary trial because of a distant relationship with the accused man's family. Hardman's first name was given him because of this family relationship. H. B. Schriener, police judge of Winchester, will preside.

None of Renaker's insurance, consisting of more than $52,000 carried with seven different companies, has been paid, according to representatives of the insurance companies.

"TEN NIGHTS" COMING TO

THE TABB ON AUGUST 23

Speaking of "Ten Nights in a Barroom," which will be shown at the Tabb Wednesday, August 23, an old-timer remarked recently: "Until I saw this photoplay I could not imagine how they would get an eight-reel picture out of 'Ten Nights in a Barroom.' If they had simply filmed the play as they used to do it on the spoken stage it wouldn't run over 15 minutes, but they show on the screen all those interesting things they talked about in the play—the barroom fight, the grand opening of the bar, burning down the saloon, Joe Morgan chasing Simon Slade through the woods to wreak vengeance for the death of his little girl, and then that wonderful chase from log to log as the pursued and pursuer are swept down the river toward the rapids—and finally the breaking of the log jam, and the death struggle on the logs at the brink of the rapids."

Even the most blasé movie fan has to "sit up and take notice" when this log jam scene takes place, and the hardened cynic who calls motion pictures "fake" and "trick stuff" must admit that the scene where Joe Morgan chases Simon Slade out on the logs in the river and battles with him until the breaking of the jam below them forces both men to fight for their lives in the raging current which threatens to sweep both to death is real.

It is real and the players say never again for them. The script called for it. It must be done, and it was done, but it brought them too close to death to make them care to repeat it, but the public benefits by this realistic portrayal of what a log jam suddenly released in a mad river current, dashing into the rapids, looks like—especially with two human beings, intent on each other's life, in the midst of it, trying for a fighting footing on the unmanageable logs.

MT. STERLING MOVING ON

B. F. Caudill, Contractor, in the Procession

Just down on South Maysville street will be one of the handsomest store rooms in Kentucky, which will be occupied by The Walsh Company. This modern room is being made beautiful under that master contractor, B. F. Caudill.

It will well pay one to walk down to this room and see things moving to a rapid completion.

Mr. Caudill is making his own residence, located on North Maysville street, a beautiful home with every modern convenience.

Whatever Mr. Caudill undertakes he does and does well, and if you have any work which needs to be done it will well pay you to consult him.

Competent workmen are in charge of every job, and if Mr. Caudill has the contract the work will be done RIGHT and in the SHORTEST POSSIBLE TIME.

FULTON FARMERS SET PACE IN THREE FARM PRACTICES

Fulton county farmers are setting the pace for those in all counties of Kentucky in at least three important agricultural practices, according to a report made by Ralph Kenney, crops extension specialist of the College of Agriculture upon his return from a recent soybean tour in that district. The county is said to have more soybeans growing in the same row with corn than any other county in the United States, more limestone has been used in the county than in any other of the same size in the state, while Fulton county farmers have adopted the practice of sowing a peck of Japan clover on every acre of grass land each year. During the last three years these three things have become common farm practices, whereas they were practically unknown before that time.

The recent tour, which was held by County Agent O. L. Cunningham for the purpose of showing interested persons what farmers of the county were doing toward building up their soils and carrying out recommended practices, covered a route of 30 miles through the county and attracted farmers from four adjoining counties. Fields of alfalfa, Japan clover and other clover were common along the roads on the tour, while practically every field of corn which was passed had soybeans growing in the same row with the corn.

Placards were posted along the line of the tour to point out striking things being done on the various farms. On the farm of Enoch Brown, near Fulton, a poster told passing farmers that the entire farm had been limed, while another on the farm of Leslie Nugent, near Fulton, showed that 100 acres of the 180 in the farm were growing legumes. Later during the tour the farmers passed the farm of Drew Bacon, near Hickman, where the total of 300 acres of corn on the farm had soybeans planted in the same row with the grain. On the farm of Charles Alexander, near Jordan, 300 acres of the 400 in the farm were found to be growing legumes. Many other farms were passed on which at least one or two of the three practices were being carried out.

A total of 150 farmers of the county will fatten their hogs this fall in an economical way by turning them into fields of corn and soybeans, the county agent told the farmers during the course of the tour.

Good roads mean that the farmers can motor to town oftener.

Kentucky Tobacco Crop Is Enormous

Kentucky's tobacco crop this year will be 520,279,000 pounds, according to the forecast of the United States Department of Agriculture of August 1. It was made public late last week. This figure represents a decrease of 223,000 pounds under the estimate of July 1, which was 520,502,000 pounds.

Notwithstanding the slight decrease in the August forecast as compared with that of July, Kentucky promises to establish a record in tobacco production this year, as the current crop is now estimated at far above that of the existing record on production, which was 512,000,000 pounds in 1919. Total tobacco production for the entire country, according to the August 1 forecast, will be 1,425,000,000 pounds, as compared with a production of 1,075,000,000 pounds in 1921. The August forecast for the country as a whole is 10,000,000 pounds above the forecast issued July 1.

STOCK KNOWLEDGE IS POWER

The successful merchant always knows the lines that are selling well and those that are sticklers or slow-movers. His figures point out everything to him. With such information always at hand he can regulate his buying. Thus he increases his turnover many fold, which, of course, means new profits and a constantly increasing bank account. Hardman Is Arrested
For Renaker Murder

Scobee Hardman, 22 years old, of Austerlitz Station, Bourbon county, was arrested last Thursday night in Winchester on a warrant charging him with the murder of Leon Renaker, "turkey king." He was placed in the Clark county jail and later, in charge of officers, was taken to Lexington for safekeeping.

The warrant on which Hardman was arrested was sworn to by Walter Renaker, of Cincinnati, brother of the slain man. Leon Renaker was found dead in bed at his home in Winchester July 26. His skull had been crushed with a blunt instrument.

This startling development in the investigation of Renaker's death, which has been carried on incessantly since his body was found by Mrs. Renaker on her return from a visit to relatives in Cincinnati, came after a conference attended by Barry and Kirk Renaker, of Cincinnati; Walter Renaker, of Cincinnati; Frank Renaker, of Prestonsburg; county and city officials and a private detective of Cincinnati.

Authorities have not disclosed the specific information on which the arrest was made. Rewards totaling nearly $5,000 had been offered by Clark county, the state of Kentucky, citizens of Winchester and the Renaker family for information leading to the arrest and conviction of Renaker's slayer.

H. H. Moore, county attorney, turned over to the conference all information that had been produced by investigation of Renaker's death. Walter Renaker decided this data was strong enough to form the basis for placing a murder charge against Hardman.

Hardman, before being taken to Lexington for safekeeping, denied his guilt. He is a son of Mr. and Mrs. Lee Hardman, of Austerlitz Station, which is about ten miles from Winchester just across the Clark county line.

Hardman is a former service man and served in the graves registration service overseas. After being honorably discharged he returned home, where he remained for several months. Then he disappeared for an interval of six months. Then his whereabouts was disclosed in a letter to his mother. This letter, which was printed in a Winchester paper, indicated he had re-enlisted and was engaged in disinterring bodies of American soldiers in France for shipment home.

Hardman, who presents a good personal appearance, but who is apparently not especially well educated, was engaged in farming before his enlistment and at one time operated a truck. Hardman's sister, Mrs. Clyde Douglas, and Mrs. Leon Renaker have been very close friends, and apparently through this friendship Hardman became acquainted with the Renaker family.

Renaker was one of the most prominent produce merchants in Central Kentucky, and was widely known. He left life insurance policies totaling $52,300, besides considerable estate, all of which was bequeathed to his widow.

Mrs. Renaker, at the home of her father, C. C. Quisenberry, when informed of the arrest of Hardman, said she did not "know anything in the world about it." She declined to discuss the arrest.

Hardman is a cousin of Geneva Hardman, nine years old, who was slain by Will Lockett, negro, near South Elkhorn, Fayette county, in February, 1920.

Out of Lockett's trial grew the Lexington riot of February 11, 1920, when six persons were killed and two score wounded when state troops fired on a mob that stormed the courthouse in an effort to lynch the negro. Following the riot Lexington was placed under martial law for several weeks.

Lockett was found guilty and was sentenced to death. He was electrocuted at Eddyville March 11, 1920.

Women Give Out

Housework is hard enough when healthy. Every Mt. Sterling woman who is having backache, blue and nervous spells, dizzy headaches and kidney or bladder troubles, should be glad to heed this Mt. Sterling woman's experience:

Mrs. M. J. O'Neill, 76 N. Queen St., says: "It has been sometime since I used Doan's Kidney Pills, but from past experience I can recommend them. I was annoyed with a lameness and painful backache and my feet swelled. My kidneys weren't acting right. I read about Doan's Kidney Pills being so good, so I began using them. They rid me of the trouble entirely. Since then I haven't had a return of the complaint."

Now, I knew Jones in a general way and couldn't help but wonder why he failed, so I asked a friend if he knew Jones and he said yes. I asked if Jones belonged to the chamber of commerce and he said no. I asked if Jones belonged to any fraternal organization and he said no. Then I asked if Jones belonged to any of the luncheon clubs and he said no. Then I asked if Jones ever took part in civic affairs and again he said no. The new Goodyear
Cross-Rib Tread Cord

Did You Get the Bottom
Price, After All?

The man who buys a "long discount" tire usually finds himself troubled by the above question.

Did he pay less for the tire than his neighbor might have paid, or actually did he pay more?

Did he get the bottom price, when all is said and done, or could he perhaps have driven a sharper bargain?

Was the net price really more than he might have had to pay for a tire of established reputation and value?

In the belief that the average motorist prefers a frank and open transaction, we built the new Goodyear Cross-Rib Tread Cord and discounted the "discount" in advance.

Instead of listing it at a high price, to enable the dealer to attract you with a so-called "long discount," we list it as low as we profitably can.

We build it of high-grade long-staple cotton, using the patented Goodyear method of group-ply construction, and sell it at a lower price than you are asked to pay for many "long discount" tires of unknown worth.

Compare these prices with NET prices you are asked to pay for "long discount" tires

IS MONEY EVER "SPENT" FOR ADVERTISING?

"A young and energetic executive took hold of a fine old retail business in New York.

"What this business needs," he told himself, "is a place in the mind of the public."

"And deliberately he set out to sacrifice the greater volume of his profits and invest the sacrifice into building of goodwill."

"He did. And to this old business, advertising was the breath of life."

"For six months had not passed before the business had grown so that advertising cost was a smaller percentage than ever it had been, and, because of a larger volume, the shop effected economies and gave far superior service."

"That was five years ago. Today a certain percentage is spent, or supposed to be spent for advertising. But as fast as the appropriation is spent, the more the business increases, the smaller the percentage becomes."

"Is money ever 'spent' for advertising?"

$750,000 CAMPAIGN FOR ST. MARY'S COLLEGE

We are in receipt of a prospectus giving the manner of a drive in order to raise the above named amount to be used in meeting the needs of St. Mary's College, Bardonia.

This drive will be headed by Governor Morrow, one of the honored alumni of this school. The drive, as we understand, is that similarly put over by the Protestant churches, including the Baptist church, in which $92,000,000 was raised by this church off its membership and put into a benefit budget. The organization is a complete one. We believe members of the local church will respond to this educational cause as promptly and freely as have other denominations to their drives. A good man will be selected for this work and we predict this diocese will "go over the top" easily, willingly and enthusiastically under his leadership.

TRADE MARK FOR FRESH EGGS

A small trade mark sticker is now put on all eggs sold by members of the North Haledon Leghorn Club in Passaic county, New Jersey. This organization was formed as a result of a meeting of poultrymen of the community with the agricultural extension agent to discuss the development of the poultry industry in that section. Each member pay two cents per bird owned, 8,000 birds being pledged at the first meeting of the club. All members use the trade mark and guarantee eggs sold under it.

As a result of 12,000 demonstrations in improved methods of home dairying given by extension agents, farm women are reported to the United States Department of Agriculture as having made according to demonstrated methods 3,300,000 pounds of butter during the year, 1,550,000 pounds of which were sold, and in addition they sold 750,000 gallons of cream.

CAMARGO AND VICINITY

Mrs. John Spratt, of Michigan, is the guest of Dr. J. B. Spratt.

G. L. Rose and family have returned from a pleasant trip to their former home near Goodwin's Chapel in Morgan county.

G. W. Dentley, Floyd Halsey and W. L. Turley attended the camp meeting at Goodwin's Chapel a few days ago.

Everett Stafford sold last week to Allie McCormick a nice building lot at the intersection of the Camargo pike and Brush Creek road for $600. Mr. McCormick will build a modern bungalow on the site.

Ballard Stafford and wife sold last week to Everett Stafford the cottage and three acres of land now occupied by Richard Elkins for a price around $2,400. The lot has on it a blacksmith shop.

Harry Moss and wife, of Casper, Wyoming, were guests of his uncle, Ray Moss, and family last Saturday.

Mr. and Mrs. James Greer entertained last week the following: Mrs. Ben Collier, of Frenchburg; Mr. and Mrs. Henry Johns, of Dayton, Ohio, and Mr. and Mrs. Charles Greer, of Port Thomas.

Tobacco cutting has started and much of the weed will soon be housed unless much rain falls within the next few days. Pastures were benefited by the rain of two weeks ago, but more is badly needed for a fall grass crop. Corn is looking well and with abundant rain will yet make more than an average yield.

Harry Patrick is visiting friends and relatives at Salyersville.

Henry Patrick has returned from a business trip to Magoffin county.

MT. STERLING STOCK YARDS

The coming Monday will be August county court day and for two weeks past the pens of the local yards have been filled with 4,000 head of cattle, 2,000 head of sheep. The stalls are engaged for a carload of Shelby county ponies, and it is estimated there will be a goodly number of mules offered.

The condition of the cattle is fine, far better than the July court. Pens will be supplied with pure water and feed.

FOR RENT - Small furnished house. Very desirably located. Phone 545.

NORTH MIDDLETOWN

By James Kendall

Mrs. Otha Leggett continues very low with tuberculosis.

Letcher Banister, who recently got burned out, is building a new house on the old site.

Charles Knox and Will Workman have returned from a motor trip to Indiana.

It is a pitiful sight to see little children from three to five years of age swearing and smoking cigarettes. It might be said they were born without fathers and mothers.

Sunday baseball games and crap shooting have about knocked the preachers out of business in this neck o' the woods.

We seldom see a fellow too busy to read his home paper - The Mt. Sterling Advocate.

Cat Hollearn, of Mt. Sterling, was a pleasant caller here Sunday afternoon. Come again, Cat.

Always say, "I saw your advertisement in The Advocate."

Mrs. Will Gilvin, of Bunker Hill, continues poorly with dropsy and Bright's disease.

John Leggett's sons, who make frequent trips to Cincinnati the year 'round for stage repairs, say the prospects for crops are the worst this season that they have seen in years.

A big revival is now going on at Little Rock Christian church.

J. W. Reed and son have returned after attending several revivals in Clark, Madison and Estill counties.

Will Workman and Nelson Gillespie motored to High Bridge and Wilmore Saturday and returned Sunday night.

R. C. Oldson and W. J. Steele were in the mountains with their wagons last week in search of coal. We did not question them, but suppose they came back "loaded" all right.

Tom and Hick Ishmael, route 3, Mt. Sterling, were callers on route 1 last Sunday.

Rev. Luther Leggett, who was recently stricken with paralysis, we are sorry to say, is no better. He was stricken while preaching at Donaldson church and had the congregation hold him up while he finished his sermon.

The last report we had from Weston, Mo., was that Lige Taulbee and wife, who were poisoned from eating canned sausage, were buried there. Other members of the family who were poisoned at the same time have about recovered. Mr. Taulbee and wife were raised in this county and he once ran a store at Bunker Hill. His brother, Will Taulbee, of Shelby county, arrived at his bedside just before he died.

Neighborhood visiting is the order of the day. In fact, we could fill up the paper with just such news, but we would not want to read it. We might say that Mrs. Jones visited Mrs. Smith across the pike yesterday and that Miss Annie Jewsharp spent the afternoon with her cousin, Matilda Longbottom; Mrs. Hallie Cathup crossed the road this morning and awakened her neighbors to borrow some coffee for breakfast; old Aunt Peggy Donothing spent the morning with her nearest door neighbor and borrowed a sieve of meal to have some corn bread and must for dinner, etc., etc.

The big tent meeting at the Levee, in Bourbon county, conducted by Revs. Shields and Heath, closed Sunday night, with baptisms in the afternoon. Mrs. Shuster, of Carlisle, led the choir and played the organ bought the big tent they had rented so did quite a lot of the preaching. The members and attendants quickly purchased the big they had rented from Rev. Wireman and left for Sherburne, Bath county, where they will conduct another meeting.

We see in a paper printed at Wibaux, Mont., the announcement of W. L. Staggs for state senator. This is not the first time Will has announced himself for office in Montana, and he always gets the plums. He has many friends here. He was raised at Sideview and his friends will rejoice to hear of his election.

Your correspondent had the pleasure two Sundays of attending the big evangelistic meeting at Sharpsburg, conducted by Rev. Ed Sanford, formerly of Bath county, and Rev. Guinn and their wives. It reminded us of the days when Sam Jones used to come to Parks Hill or High Bridge. When it comes to music they have Billy Sunday's choir leaders skinned a block. They are faithful workers in the Master's vineyard and during the five weeks' meeting had something like 150 conversions. They closed Sunday night with baptisms in the afternoon. They will either go from there to Salt Lick, Mt. Sterling or Danville.

AGED FASTER DIES

Mrs. Bettye Coffee, 88, died Wednesday afternoon near Mt. Vernon on the sixtieth day of her voluntary fast, for which she refused to assign a reason, and which is reputed to be the fourth longest fast on record.

She was buried at the Humble Baptist church, four and one-half miles from Mt. Vernon. She made her home on a lot in the rear of the church with the family of her nephew, Chas. Coxey.

The remarkable performance takes rank with that of William Rice, religious fanatic, who died at Slade, in Powell county, on July 21, after a 69-day fast, with that of Lord Mayor Terrence MacSwiney, of Cork, Ireland, who died October 25, 1920, after 71 days of self-starvation, and that of Michael Fitzgerald, another of the Cork hunger strikers, who died October 17, 1920, after being without food for 68 days.

Farm housewives last year either sold or put on their pantry shelves 1,335,000 containers of jelly, 9,500,000 cans of fruit and vegetables and 715,000 pounds of poultry and meat, according to methods demonstrated to them by extension agents of the United States Department of Agriculture and the state agricultural colleges.

No Signs of New Strike on C. & O.

That present conditions do not justify apprehension that traffic on the Ashland division of the C. & O. railroad will be tied up by a strike of engineers and firemen was the opinion expressed yesterday by J. B. Harris, superintendent of the division; R. B. Duff, chairman of the firemen of the division, and F. W. Collier, chairman of the engineers of the division.

"We have had no intimation or sign of any trouble with our engineers and firemen," Mr. Harris said. "They are working closely with us in our efforts to keep the trains going, and they are willingly doing all that their organization rules allow them to do."

"And that is all that we expect them to do," he added. "We merely want each man to do his duty as an engineer and fireman. The instructions that President W. S. Stone, head of the engineers' brotherhood, has given his men coincide with the instructions given them by the company. He has told the men that they should not take out engines that are unsafe, and so have we."

"It is our wish, which we have expressed to the men, that engineers give their locomotives very thorough inspections before taking them out, and report any defect which would make operation unsafe. We are very careful not to send out any locomotive that has not been thoroughly inspected and found safe, and we are glad to have the engineers check us up. We have not and will not ask any man to take out an unsafe engine."

L. & E. Engineers May Go On Strike

Spread of the walkout of trainmen to the Lexington & Eastern division of the Louisville & Nashville railroad, extending from Lexington to McRoberts, and serving the Hazard-Elkhorn coal fields, depends on whether the management disarms strikebreakers at the shops at Ravenna and improves the condition of equipment, Walter Tussey, chairman of engineers on the division, announced last night on his return from a conference with Superintendent J. D. Hayden at Ravenna.

Mr. Tussey pointed out that he was speaking officially for the engineers, but said he understands the firemen also plan to demand improvement in conditions by the management.

RELIGIOUS

Dr. M. V. P. Yeaman, Lexington and Washington, former pastor here, will preach at the Presbyterian church on Sunday morning. There will be no evening service.

Rev. E. J. Corby conducted services at St. Patrick's church Sunday, the first time since his recent illness. The many friends of Father Corby will be glad to know he is improving nicely and hope he may soon be restored to perfect health.

By invitation the Men's Bible Class of the Methodist Sunday School of this city met last Sunday with the Spencer Bible Class of that church in Winchester. Fifty-two men accepted the invitation and went by automobile, many returning after Sunday School, and some remaining for church services. A warm welcome was given them and they found at Winchester a most prosperous Sunday School. Prof. Spencer organized his class, refusing when he began teaching to take over any existing class, thinking by this method to arouse interest among men who did not attend Sunday School at all. His wisdom has been justified and his efforts blessed to the good of his church and community. The attendance at this class has not fallen below 100 during July and August and frequently 150 or more are present. The interest shown by the members of the Mt. Sterling class is encouraging to their teacher and officers. They felt that they were able to give an object lesson along the line of Sunday School work to their brethren of Winchester. Fellowship and friendship are part of the work and joy of Christian living. Visits like this break the monotony of regular class work and yield information, encouragement and interest to both hosts and guests.

INCULCATING TRUTH IN CHILD

First! Be truthful yourself!

Do not cherish the delusion that you can tell a child anything, and be believed. For you cannot.

At first the child will believe, but—after repeated misrepresentations, one will find that the thing told will be taken with a grain of salt.

As an illustration: If you have promised the child a visit to the park on a certain day, and then feel too tired, after a hard morning's work, how are you going to make him understand?

"Why, mother, you said you would take me this afternoon," cried surprised Bobby.

"Yes, I know," impatiently, "but you will have to amuse yourself at home today. I am too tired to walk that far."

A very grieved and disappointed child is left to his own devices, with a prodigious problem to be worked out as to why his playtime hour has not been realized.

If a promise be made to a child, keep it. If, as sometimes happens, it is impossible to carry out that promise, explain carefully just why it cannot be fulfilled at that time.

Be truthful!

To questions asked—I know they are legion—answer truthfully, explain carefully. It may take time away from other duties, but one will be well repaid by the contented happy spirit born in the child when the information sought is gladly given.

Trust will be fostered, also—trust in the one who enlightens ignorance with knowledge; then will come trust in the world at large. The fountain head of knowledge for the children is centered in you who have the shaping of these young lives in your own hands.

Let truthfulness be the basic test of your capability.—Mary F. Scott.

WAY BACK IN 1890—

The world's most famous automobile manufacturer was working in a bicycle shop.

A millionaire hotel owner was hopping bells.

America's steel king was stoking a blast furnace.

An international banker was firing a locomotive.

A president of the United States was running a printing press.

A great merchant was carrying a pack on his back.

A railroad president was pounding a telegraph key.

There's always room at the top—where'll you be in 1954?

"What sort of a time is your friend having on his motor tour?" "Great! I've had only two letter from him—one from a police station and the other from a hospital."

SUCCESSFUL 5 PER CENT

Mr. Bradstreet claims that 95 per cent of all business firms are failures.

He means by this that while the Receiver does not take charge every time—the only reason is the business is unloaded onto some "sucker" at a discount and price sufficient to permit Mr. Business Man to make a graceful exit. BUT HE IS A FAILURE JUST THE SAME.

The successful 5 per cent are found in the large metropolitan cities of the nation. This is interesting. And especially so because this successful 5 per cent are successful for one reason. AND THIS IS BECAUSE OF PUBLICITY.

These 5 per cent firms are usually found putting 5 per cent to 6 per cent into Newspaper Advertising that comes back to them in 300 per cent returns. In other words, every Dollar spent in intelligent ad display delivers back Three Dollars in profit. And these city firms have no copyright on the English language nor mediums of publications. They are merely Go-Getters—that's what they are—Go-Getters.

They invite people away from your own town. They encourage the sending for catalogues that cost them Dollars each. THEY TAKE THE MONEY FROM UNDER YOUR OWN NOSE. And you stand for it. You KNOW they can do it. You THINK you can't. It is the only instance on record that we know of where a merchant would be better off if he didn't think.

GET IT OUT OF YOUR HEAD. You are just as intelligent; just as capable; just as aggressive; as much alive as these Big Dogs of the city. WAKE UP TO THE OPPORTUNITY.

You haven't the conception; you haven't the distrust; you haven't the advertising space expense in reaching the folks of your community that these City Firms have. Your people will respond quicker, more unanimously, more surely than in the city fields—BECAUSE THEY HAVE NOT BEEN USED TO MODERN NEWSPAPER PUBLICITY.

ASK DAD; MAYBE HE KNOWS

Cuthbert had been listening for half an hour to a lecture from his father on the evils of late nights and late risings in the morning. "You will never amount to anything," said the father, "unless you turn over a new leaf. Remember, it's the early bird that catches the worm." "Ha, ha!" laughed Cuthbert. "How about the worm? What did he get for turning out so early?" "My son," replied the father, "that worm hadn't been to bed all night; he was on his way home."

Many are called, but few get up.

$33 A MONTH A LIVING WAGE? BUT THEY WERE SOLDIERS

He never did have any money. The American soldier in the army during the war, "A spendthrift," you will say. You are wrong. How could a fellow be a spendthrift on thirty-three a month and part of that going home each month for the wife and kiddies? Wife and kiddies had to live in spite of the war. And in spite of the soaring war prices a mere pittance from the government plus half of the $33 a month must keep a soldier's family alive. They were relatives of our soldiers and had lots of glory, but glory did not buy food or coal or pay the doctor or pay the rent. Lots of noise and parades and sweaters and Christmas packages, but still that didn't make $33 a month any more than $33 a month. There was many a heart-ache which was carried all through the war hidden beneath the O. D. blouse. The chaplain heard a few of these and his heart bled, but there were thousands which he never did hear. Many a little wife with set, smiling face knew the sleepless night, fear for her man overseas and fear for the children and the flu. But her letters told of "everything fine, but we miss you," to the man waiting for the letters in the trenches and she smiled as she caught the falling tears, for everything was not fine, and she hoped against hope that her man would not be wounded or killed or disabled for life.

Thirty-three dollars a living wage? No. But they were soldiers.

The Northern Baptist convention made a cut of 25 per cent on all its mission work for the coming year and Southern Baptist brotherhood forgets its promise to God and says, "God, I promised you the $75,000,000 on a certain date, but I must pay the grocer and the banker and all the rest and then six months later I'll see if I can't pay you what I owe you." And we sing: "Like an army we are marching." And we are telling these four million boys that they are lost without Christ (and they are) and a smile comes to the face of the soldier boy. "He can't be the Christ we saw in Flanders whom these folks worship for that Christ made us willing to fight at $33 a month for a cause." "They don't know the first thing about sacrifice. No, it's some other Christ or else they would be bigger. That Christ was a big Christ." So the mind of the soldier speaks to the church members of our country. A minister gets a call to a new field and the first question he asks: "What is the salary?" I'm one myself and have heard them in my study and elsewhere. The graduating class at the seminaries ask: "How much do you pay?" That theological fledgling has been most fortunate who pulls down the biggest salary. Once again I know because I was, too, in a seminary not so many years ago. Never a question about how big an opportunity does the field offer, except on rare occasions. Can I do the biggest work for Christ here or there?

Is our religion big enough to challenge the soldier? I didn't ask if Christ's religion is? Of course it is. I asked if our is. Let's not sing: "Onward, Christian Soldiers." Let's turn and sing: "Am I a Soldier of the Cross?"

A soldier of Jesus Christ? Perhaps. $33 a month a living wage? No. But they were soldiers.—C. M. Thompson, Jr., Casper, Wyoming.

OPEN SEASON

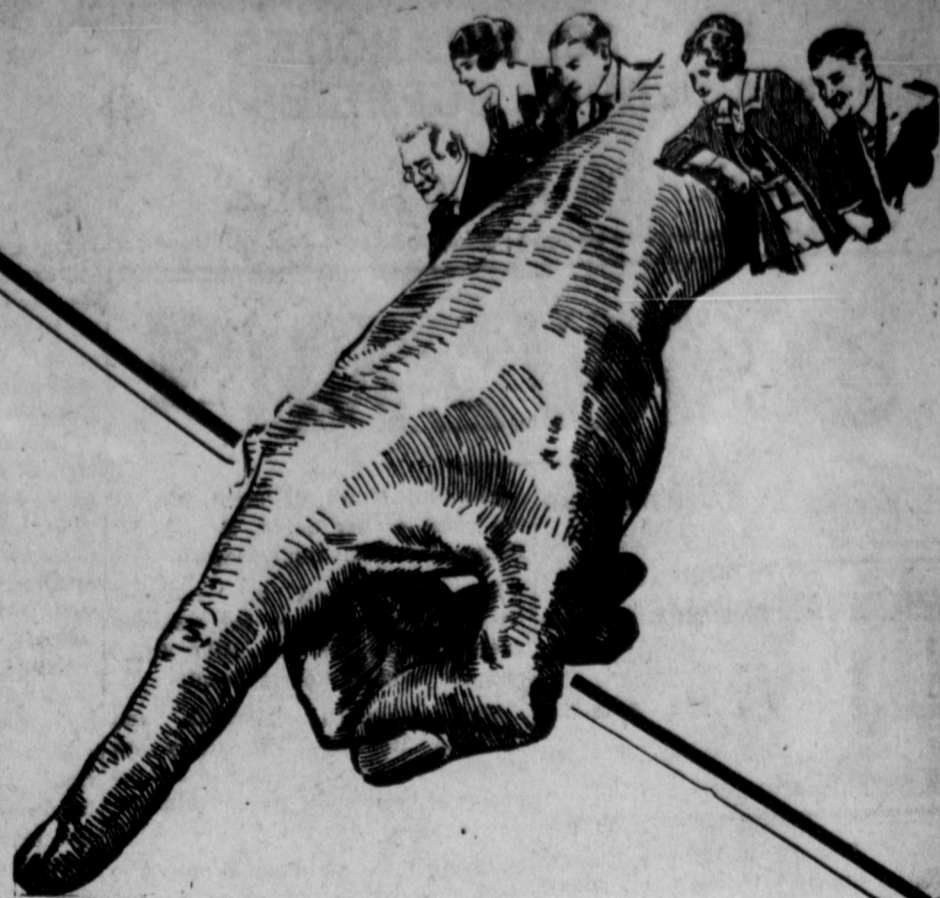

The mail order houses are going to knock the smaller town merchants for home runs just as long as they can. That will stop, however, when these same merchants stiffen their backbones long enough to fight back with the weapon of advertising and thus stop the flow of dollars that is now going for catalogue purchases with firms hundreds of miles away. To set around with a "My-gosh-ain't-it-awful" look on their faces waiting for relief from this situation isn't a manly practice to say the least, and if these fellows had a spark of fight left in themselves they would be ashamed to be walked on in this manner. These mail order houses flood with their catalogues those communities whose business men are "piker" advertisers, while in contrast concerted newspaper publicity would have a tremendous influence in driving these monsters into the holes from which they came. The open season has arrived and you may now shoot on sight. May we help to load your gun?

GOOD NEWS!!

—No doubt you've read in the papers that LERMAN BROS. were going to open a new store in Mt. Sterling. We are coming to Mt. Sterling from Cincinnati, with an honorable reputation for business dealing, won by giving people what they want, when they want it, at lower-than-every-day prices.

—Instead of opening our new store with music and flowers and free souvenirs and handshaking, we are going to DO THE UNEXPECTED. This is what will happen:

—Everybody knows about the railroad strikes—everybody knows about many other strikes that have been going on throughout the country. Well, these strikes haven't helped the manufacturers any. They can't move their goods fast enough—they can't meet their obligations and only one result could happen. STOCKS OF MERCHANDISE began to pile up. Something had to happen.

—When we went into the markets to buy our stocks of merchandise for our new Mt. Sterling Store, manufacturers greeted us with open arms. It gave them the OPPORTUNITY TO UNLOAD—it gave us the opportunity to buy brand new goods at big reductions. And this condition will give YOU—the BUYING PUBLIC—the opportunity to

JAIL DELIVERY PREVENTED

Nelson Porter, colored, confined in the Paris jail on a charge of stealing roasting ears from the corn field of Robert Meteer, near Hutchinson, made an unsuccessful attempt to escape from jail by the old familiar method by which prisoners have now become acquainted. Porter rolled his bed clothes into a bundle and set them on fire at the base of one of the partitions in the window. Jailer Taylor scented the smoke in time to investigate. Porter was removed to another cell and put in shackles. He had been recently held to the grand jury by Acting Judge Dennis Dundon.

SOUR STOMACH INDIGESTION

Thedford's Black-Draught Highly Recommended by a Tennessee Grocer for Troubles Resulting from Torpid Liver.

East Nashville, Tenn.—The efficiency of Thedford's Black-Draught, the genuine, herb, liver medicine, is vouched for by Mr. W. N. Parsons, a grocer of this city. "It is without doubt the best liver medicine, and I don't believe I could get along without it. I take it for sour stomach, headache, bad liver, indigestion, and all other troubles that are the result of a torpid liver.

"I have known and used it for years, and can and do highly recommend it to every one. I won't go to bed without it in the house. It will do all it claims to do. I can't say enough for it."

Many other men and women throughout the country have found Black-Draught just as Mr. Parsons describes—valuable in regulating the liver to its normal functions, and in cleansing the bowels of impurities.

Thedford's Black-Draught liver medicine is the original and only genuine. Accept no imitations or substitutes. Always ask for Thedford's. E. G.

WORN SOILS TO GET NEW LIFE FROM COVER CROPS

New life will be put into worn soils on hundreds of Kentucky farms in the near future through the use of winter cover crops which will be seeded this fall and turned under in the spring for the purpose of adding humus to the land, according to R. E. Stephenson, soils extension specialist of the College of Agriculture. Rye will be the principal crop used for this purpose, many farmers having made arrangements to sow the seed as soon as their tobacco, soybeans, cowpeas or corn are harvested. Farmers who turn these cover crops under in the spring for green manure will obtain a number of benefits through the addition of humus which is the greatest single need of badly worn soils, he added.

"Exhausted soils do not contain the bacteria that live and multiply in the presence of humus and add 'life' to fertile soils," Mr. Stephenson pointed out in explaining how the depleted soils of the state would be benefited by cover crops that are turned under. These bacteria cause manure and crop residues to decay and give up the elements that contribute toward crop growth. In addition, this process also makes the mineral portions of the soil more available.

"Humus also performs an important service in improving the physical condition of the soil. Soils that are rich in humus are mellow and friable and till easily, while the humus also absorbs rainfall and holds it until times of drought. On the other hand, this same material promotes good drainage during the times of surplus rainfall and retards the washing that causes many soils to lose much of their fertility.

"Perhaps the greatest value of humus comes from the plant food it contains. Coming as it does from the partial decay of plant and animal products, it contains the elements such as nitrogen, lime, phosphorus and potassium that are necessary before heavy yields can be obtained."

A MEDICAL COLLEGE

The shortage of physicians in Kentucky has become so acute that a measure was introduced which sought to have the standard for certificates for doctors in Kentucky lowered. The bill was defeated. Many thought at that time that, of all professions, the medical profession should be kept at the highest standard which could be maintained in keeping with the public welfare. Undoubtedly the man whose ministry deals with sickness, whose decisions often mean life or death to a patient, should be a man of skill and experience concerning whose ability there can be no doubt.

There is, however, a different side to the question. In many counties of Kentucky, especially those in which there are only small towns and these far apart, there are not enough physicians to care for the public. A community without a physician is indeed a community which is sorely in need.

J. W. Gaines, of Lawrenceburg, in a letter to this newspaper calls attention to the possibility of a medical college at the University of Kentucky to answer this need in the state. "I believe," he says, "this is a matter which should demand our immediate attention." Concerning this statement there can be little doubt.

The University of Kentucky now has a premedical course which prepares students for entrance into medical colleges. It does not, however, train physicians to a point where the M. D. degree can be conferred or where a license to practice can be obtained in this state.

By an act of the Kentucky legislature it is provided that at some time the university shall have a medical college in connection with it. This is authorized, but has never been provided for. The University of Kentucky and its governing body are helpless to do anything either to meet the needs of the state or to fulfill the demand of the legislature providing for a future medical college until public sentiment in Kentucky is aroused to a plane where a proper appropriation for the creation of a medical college is demanded.

Public opinion, awakened to a point where it demands action, is the only thing which can bring such an improvement.

It would be impossible for the university, without expense, to change its present premedical course so as to make it possible to train men for the M. D. degree. The American Association of Medical Colleges has certain requirements which must be met if a college is to prepare men for careers as physicians if these men are to be recognized in their profession in other states. The state board of health would not, it is believed, recognize training if it were not given under proper conditions.

It would require an appropriation of some size to make it possible for the University of Kentucky to establish a medical college. Would this, however, under the circumstances be extravagance? Could the argument, "It costs too much," be raised against an act which would furnish physicians to communities where now it is impossible for men, women and children to receive proper medical care?

Until the people of Kentucky realize the importance and possibilities of the University of Kentucky which serves them and which trains men and women to act as their servants in various walks of life, neither the commonwealth nor the university will reach its hopes and aims.

A realization of the power that the university can be in the state, if given proper support, is needed in Kentucky. Mr. Gaines says, "If this county can be taken as an index, it strikes me that Kentucky is not receiving proportional benefit from that institution." He casts no reflection upon the university. He does make an indictment of the people of the state.—Lexington Herald.

STRIKES SULPHUR WATER

W. K. Kearney, well driller, of Versailles, who has been operating extensively through Bourbon county in the past three months, struck a fine vein of sulphur water while drilling on the farm of T. F. Christy on the Jacktown pike, near Paris. The drill penetrated the limestone and the dark limestone layer to a depth of 117 feet, at which depth the sulphur water came in. The water stands at present thirty-two feet in the well, and is pronounced by those who have visited the place as superior to anything of the kind yet found in that community. Some time ago while sinking a well on the farm of E. F. Prichard near Paris, a fine flow of water very closely resembling the Crab Orchard product, was located. Mr. Kearney says this is the most peculiar section of the state he has ever worked in, and in view of the present drought he is at a loss to account for conditions that have presented themselves in some parts of Bourbon county.

Essex Break Even With Paris Mammoths

At the local park Saturday afternoon the Mt. Sterling Essex defeated the Paris Mammoths by the score of 5 to 3. Mt. Sterling played a listless game, but was enabled to win through the superb pitching of Nehrey, who held the visitors to four hits and with proper support would have scored a shutout. Paris used three pitchers in an effort to stop the Mt. Sterling sluggers.

Sunday's Game

Mt. Sterling journeyed to Paris and was accompanied by an immense crowd of fans bent on seeing the Essex capture their fifth straight game, but in this they were sadly disappointed. Townsend was sent in to twirl for Mt. Sterling and his wildness, coupled with opportune hitting by the Mammoths, was mainly responsible for our defeat. The game was featured by a number of brilliant stops by both sides, Blake and Graef making sensational stops and catches for the locals. Wills was on the mound for the Paris outfit and, although the Essex secured ten hits off his delivery, he managed to keep them well scattered and held us scoreless until the ninth inning after two were out, when our boys pushed three runs across the pan. Harrison relieved Townsend in the seventh inning, but was unable to check the Paris batters and, three runs were secured off his delivery.

Other Sunday Games

Winchester defeated Lexington, 6 to 1, Powell holding the Stutes to four scattered hits, and but for an error would have been credited with a shutout. Maysville defeated Cynthiana to the tune of 10 to 8, making 7 runs in the first inning.

The Mighty Powell Defeated

Mt. Sterling defeated Winchester on the local field Thursday, 7 to 2, by hitting Powell at opportune times and outplaying the Dodgers in the field. Every Essex player received at least one hit off Powell, the elongated twirler from Beattyville.

The features of the game were the playing of Wilbers in left field, the catching of Monk and pitching of Harrison. Hogan made a great catch off Pergerem, which robbed him of a home run and the home club of four runs, as the bases were full and two down.

Handley, the first man up in the second, secured a lucky home run down the left foul line, the ball going into the creek. The box score follows:

Notes of the Game

Lexington will be the attraction here Thursday afternoon and Winchester will be here for two games Saturday and Sunday.

With two such pitchers as Harrison and Nehrey there is no reason why Mt. Sterling should not win a majority of its games.

Now that our boys have played two bad games in a row (however, being fortunate enough to win one of them) we hope they have off days out of their system and will continue on their winning streak.

Wilbers, Blake and Weichman, composing our outfield, are as good as there is in the league, but in the field and at the bat.

Nehrey looked especially good in Saturday's game when he held Paris to four scattered hits many in as many innings.

Inability to hit at the opportune time was another factor that helped cost us the game at Paris Sunday. However, that is history now—just watch us go on from here.

Attention Ford Owners!

Ford parts, like almost everything else worth while, are counterfeited. Imitation parts are manufactured to SELL at the highest possible rate of profit and the grades of steel used are consequently not the same high quality, specially heat-treated alloy steels specified in Ford formulas for the manufacture of GENUINE FORD PARTS.

Don't be misled—Insist upon GENUINE FORD PARTS made by the Ford Motor Company. By so doing you will get from 35 to 100 per cent more wear from them, and you will pay the lowest possible cost—the same everywhere.

50% OF GENUINE FORD PARTS
RETAIL FOR LESS THAN 10c EACH

WANTED

EXCLUSIVE REPRESENTATIVES IN EVERY COUNTY

To handle motion picture and stereopticon equipment for schools, churches, institutions, factories and homes and to represent The Romell Motion Picture Company—producers of industrial, educational and community motion pictures. Representatives may work either full or part time. High-class specialty salesmen putting in full time can make big earnings. Principals, teachers and ministers working part time can increase their income from thirty to sixty dollars a month. Opticians, jewelers and other stores handling photographic apparatus will find this an excellent line. We furnish leads, instruct you in the business and co-operate in every way to increase your sales. Applicants should give full details regarding present occupation and past experience. Applicants selected will be asked to visit our studio for instructions and final arrangements. For further information address
